Reading group: Feminist Philosophy of Mind

FEMINIST PHILOSOPHY OF MIND

EDITED BY KEYA MAITRA AND JENNIFER MCWEENY

Fortnightly on Wednesdays at 5pm (UK time) via Zoom

Register via Zoom: (a valid Zoom account is needed): https://uofglasgow.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZwpc- qorzoiHdM2nFlvUMuQaZNxtNx1ILfd

> For any issues, contact: a.alcaraz-sanchez.1@research.gla.ac.uk

Organisers: Adriana Alcaraz-Sánchez (University of Glasgow) Jodie Russell (University of Edinburgh) With the support of

2022 Introduction: What is Feminist Philosophy of Mind? 19 Oct Maitra and Jennifer McWeeny Chapter 1 Is the First-Person Perspective 02 Gendered? by Lynne Rudder Baker Nov 16 Chapter 10 Enactivism and Gender Performativity Nov Toward a Feminist Theory of Mental Chapter 3 Content Dec

11 Jan	Chapter 8	The Question of Personal Identity by Susan James
25 Jan	Chapter 17	Outliving Oneself: Trauma, Memory, and Personal Identity by Susan J. Brison
08 Feb	Chapter 6	Symptoms in Particular: Feminism and the Disordered Mind by Jennifer Radden
22 Feb	Chapter 9	Sexual Ideology and Phenomenological Description: A Feminist Critique of Merleau- Ponty's Phenomenology of Perception by Judith Butler
08 Mar	Chapter 13	Against Physicalism by Naomi Scheman
22 Mar	Chapter 14	Why Feminists Should Be Materialists and Vice Versa by Paula Droege
05 Apr	Chapter 15	Which Bodies Have Minds? Feminism, Panpsychism, and the Attribution Question With the participation of the author Jennifer McWeeny